

OFFICE OF THE MAYOR
Village of Bloomingdale
PROCLAMATION

Wolfden Brewing Company Day

Whereas the Village of Bloomingdale is proud to have a dynamic base of businesses that contribute to our local economy. Bloomingdale is made up of a strong entrepreneurial small business community employing individuals and also strengthen our economy and community through charitable, civic, and philanthropic contributions; and

Whereas, what started as a shared interest turned into a passion, after researching & developing a plan while working closely with the Village, Katie and Krys Wolf opened their business in Bloomingdale on August 11, 2018 and so Wolfden Brewing Company was born. Their business has flourished due to the respect for one another and their team; and

Whereas, philanthropy has always been a part of their vision for Wolfden Brewing and it has become a fantastic platform for getting people together to enjoy themselves, while also having the opportunity to give back to their community. The most rewarding part of their philanthropy work is knowing that their contribution has helped improve the lives of others in some way and inspires others to get involved; and

Whereas, Wolfden Brewing Company was recognized as Philanthropic Business of the Year in 2022 through West Suburban Philanthropic Network. Wolfden has partnered with breweries, local businesses, organizations, & schools to help people facing food insecurity but also to support people during tragedy in the community, celebrate music & arts, create a home away from home for pets, & support charities including the Salvation Army, People's Resource Center, National Multiple Sclerosis Society, Red Cross & American Cancer Society; and

Whereas, as Wolfden celebrates their five-year anniversary in August, their future goals include expanding & creating larger spaces for distribution & indoor event space, they also plan to continue their outstanding commitment to philanthropy. The Village of Bloomingdale celebrates leadership & meaningful progress in the community, that which Wolfden embodies;

Now therefore, I, Franco A. Coladipietro, Mayor of Bloomingdale, do hereby proclaim August 11 to be Wolfden Brewing Company Day in the Village of Bloomingdale. We are proud they are part of our community and wish them success in their future endeavors.

In witness thereof, I have herewith set my hand and caused the seal of this village to be affixed.
